Severe restrictions imposed on flood plain construction

Property owners along the Gull River in Minden have received the final word about the introduction of flood plain restrictions. Judging by the reaction at a special meeting Wednesday evening, while they are not too pleased with the outcome, they seem to realize there is little which can be done to change the course of the municipality.

Over three years in planning, the municipality, along with the provincial and federal government, has produced a detailed study of the river's flood plain. The plan identifies areas where new construction will not be permitted and two other areas where it is hoped the province will grant special status to allow development under specific conditions.

The study extends from the Orillia Water Light and Power dam to south of the sewage treatment plant. Within that section, large areas of vacant land have been frozen from future development.

Municipal planner Bob Lehman said the areas where now new building can be erected, have been identified as those likely to be affected by the one in a hundred year flood. He told the gathering that if a new building was introduced to this area, the impact would be to displace water, creating additional problems for buildings already in the area and raising the flood level. Lehman noted that the municipality and province have already invested a great deal of money in the restricted area when the sewage treatment facilities were installed. He said to protect some of this investment the municipality will apply to the province to allow two sections to be given Special Policy Area (SPA) status. This would allow development to take place, but under strict guidelines. These guidelines would include special construction methods to eliminate damage and other precautions.

The special policy areas have been identified as approximately the land between Prince Street and South Water Street and including the portion of land on which the community's firehall and ambulance hall are now located, and the area south of Anson Street, toward the built-up area along Bobcaygeon Road. The SPA ends where fill has been placed on these properties and most buildings on Bobcaygeon Road are outside the area.

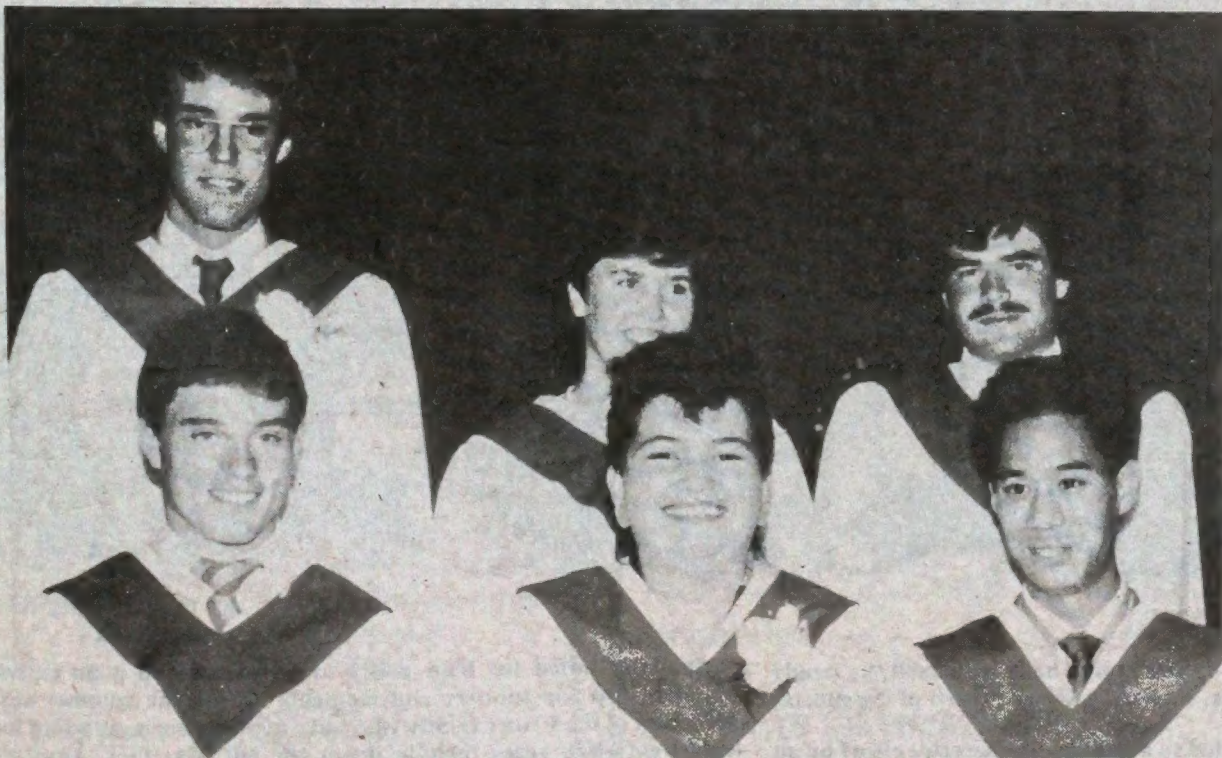

Lehman told the gathering that those people living within the restricted flood zone will be permitted to make additions to the present structures on their property, however, these expansions can not be any greater than 25% of the

Wednesday night was the date of a big event at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School for students in grades 12 and 13 as well as their parents. That was when they had their graduation ceremony. As the students walked to the front of the stage dressed in their graduation gowns, admiring parents and family members who filled the school auditorium to the limit, clapped and snapped photographs.

As each of the crisp, new diplomas were handed out - Mr. Stuart Baker, Director of the Haliburton County Board of Education and Mrs. Linda Mumford, Chairman of the Haliburton Board, performed the honours - the graduates formed a line at the front of the stage. Some were solemn and other smiled nervously as they looked out over the audience of peers, relatives and old friends.

In his valedictory speech, grade 12 student Sandy Sutherland compared each of his fellow graduates to Christopher Columbus as the great adventurer discovered America. "Commencement is our new land," he said to the audience. "Our diploma is a mirror to the past and a threshold to the future."

The applause for Sandy's speech was loud and hearty.

Perhaps the tone of the evening was best captured by Paul Milne in his oration as grade 13 valedictorian. Calculating the debt to parents of each of his classmates, he estimated that everyone owed their mother and father approximately $85,600 for hours worked at minimum wage - "and that's only labour wages. Imagine the vacation pay benefits." And addressing his class, Paul said, "You have the ability, the confidence and the

Kawartha Dairy: celebrates 25 years tons of ice cream, gallons of milk

by John Greenwood

When Opal and Don Crowe first opened the Kawartha Dairy for business 25 years ago - their anniversary was on Tuesday (July 1) - all they had for a check-out counter was a couple of planks laid across some milk cases. As an incentive to attract customers they gave away ice cream cones, and even then, recalls Opal, "the yard was full of cars. Everyone wanted free ice cream."

Though the Crowes now charge for ice cream the crowds haven't left. In fact, on most days during the summer months the parking lot in front of the Kawartha Dairy is at least half full and the lines at each of the four take-out windows are five deep.

The reason for the continued popularity, explains Opal, is because, "ours is one of the few kinds of ice cream being sold these days with any real cream in it. The other brands are made with mostly milk, and our customers know that."

But while the crowds in the parking lot and the ice cream the Crowes sell has remained much the same over the years, everything else about Kawartha Dairy has changed. "When Don and I first started out - I was 21 and we'd just got married - we didn't have a lot of money. Instead of buying a place, we built it ourselves with as much help as we could get from friends and relatives. We even had to blast out the hillside down to the level of the road." The building that opened for business on July 1, 1961, served its purpose, but only for a short time. Because the lines of customers kept growing, the Crowes had to expand their facilities to deal with the numbers.

"We sold ice cream across the counter first, but later we started putting in the take-out windows. One was enough in the beginning. Now we have four windows and 15 people scooping ice cream and on some days that's still not enough."

They've also expanded their coolers for milk and eggs. More blasting was done in the rock out back so an extension could be added there; both ends of the building have been added onto; and even the front has been enlarged with take-out windows and extra doors.

"We just kept adding on and adding on," says Opal. "It's unreal. We had no idea 25 years ago that we'd be this big today."

Some of the credit for the success of the Kawartha Dairy has to go to Opal and Don's five sons. "Right from when they were that high" - Opal stretches out a hand to about three feet from the floor - "they've been working with their mum and dad doing the eggs and milk."

"When the milk truck came in the middle of the night, we got our boys out of bed to unload it. They've done everything in the dairy from cleaning up and scooping ice cream to driving truck. It made things a lot easier for Don and me to have five boys who were willing to work than to have to hire other people."

And the Crowes are confident now that their boys can run the dairy by themselves. Each has his driver's licence, and they've all been in the business long enough that the jobs are all second nature.

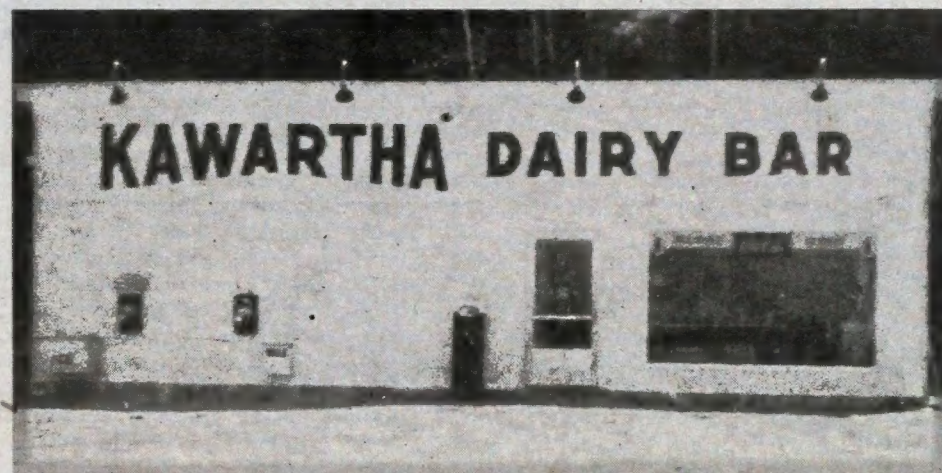

"It gives you a good feeling," remarks Opal, "that if anything happened to Don and me, the kids wouldn't have anything to worry about. It's a good business and they can run it by themselves. They're a good bunch of boys."

In the meantime though, nothing unlucky is likely to happen to Don and Opal Crowe. Business continues to grow as does the store and the lines in front of the four ice cream wickets have never been bigger. "On a good day," smiles Opal, "we go through more than 120 two and a half gallon tubs of the stuff."

Kawartha Dairy as it was in 1961.

After 25 years in Minden, the Crowe family have witnessed the steady growth of their family business, Kawartha Dairy. Much of the success of the venture has been attributed to a strong, co-operative effort by all members of the family, including the Crowe's five sons. The dairy is particularly noted for their delicious ice cream and is an extremely popular stop for tourists and residents during the summer season. Members of the Crowe family who have kept the business going for the last twenty-five years include, from the left, Ila, Jack, Don, Opal, Sharon, Steve (holding Abby), Terry, Darryl, Rob and Craig.

Stanhope firemen were called to a blaze north of Ox Narrows for the second time early Tuesday morning, when a fire they extinguished the night before, flared anew. The second blaze, at the home of Al Thompson destroyed the structure, causing an estimated loss of $100,000 in building and contents. The older log structure posed a number of problems for the firemen, as several layers of walls helped to hide the root of the fire. Firemen were unable to discover the cause of the blaze.

Man admits to resort blaze

Almost a year after a tragic fire destroyed the Pine Ridge Resort, a man has admitted to setting the blaze and has been sentenced to jail.

Robert John Saunders, 33, of Windsor admitted setting the blaze when he appeared in court in Lindsay Monday to face an assault charge. Police had been carrying out an investigation since the fire July 25. The trail led from Haliburton to Lindsay and Windsor before all the details could be tracked down.

The man admitted to pouring a trail of gasoline across the wooden porch of the 35 year old lodge and setting a match to the liquid. The fire forced 10 individuals to flee from the structure shortly after 3 o'clock in the morning. A number of minor injuries were reported as a result of the blaze, but no one was seriously hurt.

The lodge was quickly engulfed in flames and subsequently destroyed.

At the time of the blaze, arson was suspected, however police were unable to find the necessary evidence to lay a charge.

Saunders was known to the police at the time and he came to their attention earlier this year when a vicious assault took place in the Haliburton area April 14. The female victim was severely beaten by an individual wearing a mask. Before leaving the woman's home, the mask slipped and the woman was able to identify the assailant as Saunders.

Police laid charges in the assault case and continued their investigation into the arson case.

Saunders appeared in court Monday and, in addition to pleading guilty to the assault, admitted that he had set the fire almost a year ago.

The man was sentenced to three years on the arson charge and one year on the assault charge. The sentences will be served consecutively. The man was also charged with committing an indictable offense while wearing a disguise, and was sentenced to six months concurrently.

Taking part in the investigations from the Minden detachment were Constables Bob Wood, Joe Dorricott and Bill Clendenning.

An important donation

The need is constant, but the supply does not always match the demand. There is no change for the supplier but, in turn, a fully stocked inventory must rely on volunteer donors. The donation they make is the gift of life.

For the first time in some fifteen years, a Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic will be held in Haliburton County. The clinic has been planned for July 22 at the Legion Hall in Haliburton. It is surprising that an area with such strong ties to the Canadian Red Cross Society, through local branches, would have missed out on this vital service for so long. The organization's interest in areas of large population when blood supplies were needed, is understandable, but it is still unfortunate this area has had to wait so long to show that residents are eager to make a contribution.

But is, in fact, the community ready to support this undertaking by turning out in large numbers? We certainly hope so.

Giving blood is an easy way to make a valuable contribution to your community and country. One need not look far beyond our borders to see countries where blood is a commodity to be sold and bought, where dollars not need determine who shall receive a transfusion. Canada's volunteer system of giving and free access to supplies at time of need, reflects the true humanitarian nature of the act of giving blood.

Organizers of the July 22 clinic are eager to ensure the day is a success. To do so, they'll need the enthusiastic involvement of as many eligible participants as possible. Plan now to attend, make of point of setting time aside now so you'll be free three weeks from now. Let's show the Red Cross they were wrong to wait fifteen years before having a clinic here and that the community does not want to wait another fifteen years for the next one.

Editor:

We love your great little paper and your colleague The Echo and look forward to their arrival in Toronto every week in the mail.

You'll be interested to know the Post Office has just set a new record for slow delivery to our house. Sixteen days to get a copy of The Times in our mailbox. Your June 4th edition arrived this afternoon, June 20th. With it, however, was the Echo for June 11, just nine days from their end.

We get consistently slower delivery from Minden than Haliburton though the county town is closer.

Perhaps they are still under the impression at the Post Office that there is a mail train from the Highlands.

Joe Curtin,
Toronto.

Editor:

Although I'm not over the effects of June 16 (Tornado Day at Camp Towhee). I can't let another local paper go to press without an enormous thanks to a great many people: the men and Wendy of Ontario Hydro, the road employees of Dysart et al. local crews from MNR, Bell Canada men and horses for their hard work and long hours since 'T-Day'.

When Cec and I were making our way through the tangled, twisted mess on our road, we thought we wouldn't get the truck out for at least a week but Wednesday evening the road was passable and we drove in and out. By Saturday, June 21, Ontario Hydro crews had restored service to the Towhee gate and by the time you read this, we will have telephone restored...Fantastic eh! Only in Haliburton Highlands.

Many thanks also to Herb and Isobel who help all strays, animal or human, to Joe and Doreen and staff from Camp White Pine for boat service, to Merrill Barry and his family of workers for their exhausting, dangerous, hours of work skidding the debris out of the way so we can find our way to the damaged buildings or the remains of same, to Lee Blair Sand and Gravel, Rick Elstone Construction, Tom Stephen of Howe Builders, Janet and Pat at Camp Gay Venture, to Camp Kandalore, to our families and our many friends for their care and concern, and to the "Devolin twins" who gave me a few surprises and laughs on the weekend after 'T-Day'.

Bear with me, thanks also to my niece Penny, my nephew Brad, my adopted sons Patrick and Steve for acting as our 'Security Guards' to keep out undesirables (looters) and keep the curious sightseers from the most dangerous spots so they wouldn't be hurt and Thanks be to God for His planned path of this tornado through our county so that there was no loss of life or serious injury. God Bless You All.

Boost for area pork producers

- by John Eakins, MPP -

Pork production is one of Victoria - Haliburton's most important agricultural activities and, across the province, it is a major source of export dollars, providing about 30,000 jobs in production, slaughtering and meat processing. Accordingly, I was pleased to see my colleague, Jack Riddell, make two announcements which will mean long term benefits to both producers and processors. Ontario is budgeting $54 million over the next five years to improve our pork industry. The Marketing Assistance Program for pork will boost the processing side and the Ontario Pork Industry

Fifty-one promised new provincial parks are sitting - going nowhere.

The reason - Natural Resources Minister Vince Kerrio has linked an array of inappropriate developments and uses to their creation. Mr. Kerrio is proposing to allow mineral exploration, (and, inevitably, mining) construction of hydro dams, destruction of the famous Thunderhouse Falls in the Missinaibi River Waterway Park, logging in 2 provincial park areas, resort construction and hunting. Members of Cabinet, clearly, aren't satisfied with the enshrinement of inappropriate uses, to which the public is opposed. And each, vested interest group is busily lobbying its 'pet' use for the new parks.

The result, predictably, is that the slate of 51 remaining parks simply sits there - at risk.

The park's expansion dates from June 1983, when then-Conservative Minister Alan Pope announced government commitment to establish 155 new provincial parks. The parks would be created as fast as the surveys and necessary regulations to the parks act - incorporating those surveys - could be put in place. Further, many of these 155 had been dramatically reduced in size.

To everyone's surprise - since areas with major conflict to resource users like loggers, miners and hunters had been deleted - Mr. Pope announced that several inappropriate activities would be "recommended" in the new provincial parks.

Several of these were explicitly forbidden in the "Blue Book" which sets out Administrative Policies for the Provincial Parks, (which Mr. Pope announced would not be changed.) Defacto, the Minister created two sets of administrative policies - one for parks created before 1983, another for parks after 1983.

The boundary surveys and creation of the parks dragged on. The whole process had been promised within a year. But when the Liberals took office - 2 years later - 104 of the parks had come into legal being. Fifty-one remained.

Almost a year passed with no further action. Then, Mr. Kerrio took a proposal before Cabinet which, if approved, would proceed with the parks, with the inappropriate activities "recommended" by Mr. Pope, and with some new ones of his own. Logging, Hydro development. And the groundwork for obliteration of Thunderhouse Falls.

Cabinet colleagues weren't satisfied, and referred the matter back. Evidently, Mr. Kerrio tinkered with the proposal,

A splash of red; a hint of brown

It's 5 o'clock on a Thursday afternoon and Constable Gary Chapman, just finished his shift as a policeman with the Minden OPP, is in the studio at the bottom of his garden, about to start a painting. Quickly wetting a sheet of paper, he lays it on his glass deck top. Then, with a brush full of water colour paint he takes a few brisk strokes across his paper; first orange, next red, blue and brown. Seconds pass and the colours begin to spread, merging together and sinking into the fibres until the entire sheet has become a bright sunset.

"The technique," explains Chapman, "is called 'wet in wet'. It gives the painting a free-flowing, easy sort of quality. There's nothing at all tight about it."

And you could say the same about the artist. A large, relaxed man with a quick smile, he doesn't fit into any tidy categories. "I've always liked doing things on my own. I fish a lot, I work around the house, and now for the past five years, I've been painting. I don't talk about my art at work but there probably are a few guys who think it's a bit odd for a policeman to paint."

Since moving to the house on the shore of Mountain Lake ten years ago, Gary, his wife Judy, and their two children have come to know and appreciate Haliburton. They've also quietly found a niche for themselves in the community. It was the picturesque scenery of the area, says Chapman, that first inspired him to paint. "I would be out fishing or just walking when I saw something that made me want to put brush to paper."

"At first I did a bit of dabbling in acrylics, but it wasn't until I started taking courses at Sir Sandford Fleming that I began to feel I was really accomplishing something." There he learnt technique and the details of creating the illusion of three dimensions on a two dimensional piece of paper.

Chapman happily admits to being deeply influenced by some of the teachers at the school. He singles out Neil Broadfoot (who illustrated the recently published book on Haliburton County, Me n' Len), Ed Cronk, and John Joy - all well respected artists - as being particularly important. "Each one has a different style and I've tried to learn the various elements so I can use them in my own way."

Learning to paint was a significant accomplishment but another one almost as important was just making the time to do it. As well as holding down his job with the OPP, Chapman also had to deal with the day to day duties of being a husband and father. Now that his children are grown, the latter responsibility is less demanding, but there is still a large chunk of his life that must be devoted to things other than art.

"We work ten hour shifts at the station and for every four days of work, we get three off. For the first two days I clean up around the house and do the various chores, repairing and building things. So it's only on the last day of my weekend that I can really settle down to paint. I do work in the studio at other times, but I can never really start on a painting right after coming home from work. I have to relax a bit."

Away from distractions

"What really helped was building this studio." The studio is an airy, reconditioned boathouse on the shore of Mountain Lake, about a hundred feet from the house. A picture window over the carefully ordered desk looks out over the lake and there's a small wood stove in the corner for heating in winter. Here Chapman comes to paint every chance he gets.

"When I first started, I was trying to work in the living room and sometimes, the bedroom. I'd lay out my paints and paper and work for a while. Then, after coping with all the distractions I'd have to clear up my materials as soon as I was finished."

Now that he's built his studio, Chapman can work in peace. He can spread out his paints wherever he wants and leave them when he's finished. It's a place where he can be by himself - for the most part.

"My wife made me install an intercom when I put this place in. That way, she doesn't have to step out of the house when she needs me."

Another catalyst for his painting was the Agnes Jamieson Gallery's request, last fall, that he take part in an exhibition which opened last Saturday. With a deadline in front of him, Chapman worked harder and faster than he ever had before.

"That was one of the best things that's happened to me. The gallery wanted 25 pictures and I had to produce them all in seven months." So he put his head down for most of last winter and now that the work is done, he's proud of the results. The show, which Chapman is sharing with fellow Haliburton artist, Chuck O'Neil, runs until the end of July. "I first met Chuck at the School of Fine Arts where, like me, he was learning to paint. Since then we've become good friends. I think our styles complement each other."

And it was while he was preparing for the Agnes Jamieson show that Chapman found his own style. Working away in his time off, making sketches of local scenes and returning to his studio to apply colours, he had what he calls his breakthrough. This is the point, says the artist, that you suddenly stop worrying about technique and learn to concentrate on just reproducing the image in your head. If style is what makes an artist, this is when Chapman came into his own.

"My work flows now. I can relax when I paint and I'm usually proud of the results. It's something like playing a musical instrument; when you're learning to play, there's a point at which you forget about the individual chords and notes and the tune just comes."

Latest show contrasts two styles

Wine and conversation were flowing at the opening last Saturday of the Agnes Jamieson Gallery's latest exhibition, this one of water colours by local artists Gary Chapman and Chuck O'Neil. And evidently so was the money, for by the end of the day, five of the fifty or more paintings had been sold, marking the event as a complete success.

"We're all very pleased and happy that everything worked out so well," said Alice Don, the gallery administrator.

The paintings in the show attracted particular interest because many of the scenes depicted are from the Haliburton area and can be easily identified. Both artists favour local scenes because, as Chapman explained,

"you paint what you're familiar with."

But in style the two painters are completely different. While O'Neil has a realistic manner - some of his work is so real it's almost dream-like - and uses muted, sombre colours, Chapman paints in a flowing, dramatic way that seems to work best with bright colours.

Most of Chapman's pictures are lake scenes and landscapes with groups of buildings, done roughly in quick brush strokes.

O'Neil on the other hand often chooses curious, puzzling subjects which he paints in meticulous detail. For instance, one picture, entitled Red Rocks, shows a group of people, their backs

Expansion

The Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home in Minden has made a major expansion. Gord Monk announced recently the purchase of the Nisbett Riverview Funeral Home in Bobcaygeon.

The Nisbett home has been in operation in the Bobcaygeon area for the past 17 years. In the past two years, the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home has truly become a family business. Both Cameron and Kirsten Monk have earned their diplomas in Funeral Services and are licenced funeral directors.

"I am pleased to see the business expand into a family operation," Gordon Monk commented. He noted that between the three licenced funeral directors, and with the continued assistance of his wife, Donna, the family will share the operation of the two businesses.

"The combined buying power of the two homes and the sharing of equipment could help reduce costs and be of direct benefit to the Haliburton County operation," Gordon Monk said. He also noted that the two operations are within easy commuting distance which means that sharing of resources will be relatively easy.

The Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home is the only funeral home in Haliburton County.

Many changes

As the Highlands enters the busiest time of the year, the business community is percolating with openings, changes and additions. With apologies to those missed in this brief recitation (we'll try to catch up next week) here is a quick rundown of what's happening:

- the Old Army Hall Sport and Tackle on Maple Street in Haliburton marked its official opening on Tuesday. The new outlet is next to Kennedy Surplus and Exchange and is an extension of that business. Owner Pat Kennedy said the new location will allow the business to have a wider selection of sporting goods and supplies.

- Today marks the official opening of the two Re/Max offices in Haliburton County. The offices have been in full operation for several months and have attracted a large share of real estate business. The Minden office, where the official festivities will take place, is located at the Moyne's plaza at the corner of Highway 35 and Main Street. The Haliburton location is on Highland Street in the premises formerly located by Mark's Snack Bar.

- Galleria Curioso, operated by Pamela Brohm, who also owns Eccentric Wardrobe in Haliburton, concentrates on antiques and original art. Located in the lower level of the former Maple Leaf Bakery, the store provides an interesting venue for browsing. Included in the store is a small tea room where customers can grab a light snack or enjoy a quiet cup of coffee.

- L'il Rascals, the store with clothes for little people, has moved from its location over Home Hardware in Minden to the community's Main Street. Bonnie Pentney has moved the business to the premises formerly occupied by Mae's Country Mart and The Stop. Bonnie says she's looking forward to the additional display space and the Main Street visibility as a boost for business. The store carries children's clothing up to size 16, toys and children's furniture.

- A number of new restaurants have opened this year in the Highlands including Hollow Valley in Carnarvon. Kel Stone has brought his reputation for generous portions and tasty food south from Dorset to the former Reflection Restaurant location. The restaurant has been open for more than a month and it hasn't taken diners long to discover what makes Hollow Valley special. The restaurant is located on Highway 118, just east of Highway 35 at Carnarvon.

- Also on the Highway 35 corridor is NJ's Roadhouse. Operated by Jeff and Norma Jeanne in the former Pawson's Marina building, the couple has created an interesting and fun atmosphere. The redecoration of the building in itself is a major achievement. The restaurant is a fun spot to enjoy an evening, with satellite television providing the latest in rock videos, sports coverage or movies. NJ's is on Highway 35 just south of Highway 118.

Wednesday, July 2, 1986

- Further north on Highway 35 at Ox Narrows, is Huggy Bear's. The restaurant is operated by Bryan and Brenda Goodger and has been open for over a year. In that time, the owners have carried out extensive renovations to what was the Rockside Resort, turning it into an attractive place to dine and enjoy an evening. Bryan and Brenda have taken advantage of the superb view at the narrows and stretched a deck along the front of the building. They'll mark their official opening Thursday.

- In Haliburton, a nifty little two-storey eatery, McKeck's, is now open. Operated by former NHL hockey player Walt McKechnie, the restaurant offers a hockey motif. Colourful photographs, many autographed, line the walls, while pucks sunk into the bar carry the crests of NHL teams. The licenced establishment occupies the building where Larry VanLieshout Realty was located, next to the Kozy Korner Restaurant also owned by McKechnie.

- New owners are evident at Highlands TV and Video in downtown Minden. Longtime TV repairman Larry Cummins sold the business last month to Brenda and Jeff Manser. With one of the largest selections of rental movies in the county, the store continues to be a popular place for those interested in the latest video releases. The couple will continue to retail video products, such as television sets, video cameras, stereos, etc.

to the viewer, walking over a carefully drawn rocky landscape. We wonder what they look like.

In another painting, Recess, feet dangle over a concrete slab. Once again the detail is clever, but the faces and even the bodies attached to those feet are not in the scene.

O'Neil has a simple explanation: "In many of my paintings I don't show faces because if I did, people would wonder who they are, and that's not important."

Guests at the opening agreed with O'Neil and praise for both artists came from nearly all quarters. For anyone with an interest in painting or the Haliburton scenery the exhibit at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery should certainly be seen. The exhibition continues until July 26.

but made no substantive change. The whole matter is slowly sinking into an indefinite state of limbo. And the longer it drags on, the less likely those parks are to ever become reality.

Enough is enough!

It's time to put those 51 parks into legal reality. They are not simply play areas. To the contrary, they include some of Canada's finest biological treasures - key pieces of our provincial heritage. They can become a legacy of pride - protected as parks. Or one of sorrow - nibbled into oblivion by all manner of inappropriate uses in the face of indecision.

It's time for Mr. Kerrio - and his Cabinet colleagues - to create an asset that will benefit all Ontario residents - both present-day and for generations to come.

It's time for leadership. And action.

Board backs 20 bed hospital proposal

A 20 bed addition to the Haliburton Hospital moved one step closer to reality last Tuesday night when the board of St. Joseph's Hospital in Peterborough, which administers the hospital in Haliburton, approved the scheme in principle.

The hospital addition will be devoted to chronic care patients, forecast to greatly increase in number as more of the population in Haliburton ages. The Executive Director of St. Joseph's, Leo Dorion, told The Times that present scheduling provides for construction of the addition to begin shortly into the New Year.

He outlined a number of steps which the plan will have to pass through before it becomes reality. "The next step is to advise the District Health Council of our decision," explained Mr. Dorion. He added that he believes there is "one hundred per cent" support for the scheme in the council.

The final approval, of course, lies with the provincial government. Mr. Dorion is optimistic of its support as well. Although it has been recognized by the council since 1980 that at least 15 chronic care beds are needed in the county, funding was not available until last year, when the Liberal government made $400,000,000 available for care for the elderly.

The addition will cost approximately $1.5 million to build. It is expected to provide full employment to 31 individuals with a payroll of $899,000 per year.

The cost of building the addition will be shared equally between the province of Ontario and a consortium of local sources that include the county of Haliburton, its municipalities, donors and service clubs. An informal agreement worked out two weeks ago between County Council and the ad hoc committee working on the hospital proposal apportioned the cost load as follows: Haliburton county, $200,000; participating municipalities, $200,000; private donors, $200,000; service clubs, $150,000.

County Warden Harry Davis cautioned on Monday that the financial figures are "very rough". He expects the cost to be absorbed by the county over a five-year period.

The municipality of Dysart et al plans to contribute $100,000 which is half the municipalities' share, according to reeve Murray Fearrey. The reeve favours a short term financing plan utilizing a mill rate increase, as it is "within the term of this council."

Grapplers return

The grapplers return to the Minden arena this Saturday evening as another wrestling card is planned.

According to the promoters, top wrestlers from all over the world will be on hand to entertain the crowd with their antics. Included on the card are midget wrestlers, lady wrestlers and Gentle Ben, the 500 pound wrestling bear.

The first match gets underway at 8:15 p.m.

Improvement Plan will concentrate on production. The new two-part strategy will help producers and processors maintain their competitive positions in national and world markets. In doing so, this will strengthen an essential element of our economy.

Another announcement by Bill Wrye will assist the Workers' Compensation system in the province. My colleague's announcement includes three initiatives. The first is an expansion of the office of the Worker Advisor, to better assist workers in their dealings with the Workers' Compensation Board. The hiring of 18 additional worker advisors and a budget increase to $3.5 million will permit the office to handle a caseload that is one-third higher than originally anticipated.

The office of the Employer Advisor will also be expanded with new offices to be opened in Windsor, Kitchener, Sudbury and Ottawa within the next six months. Together with an expansion of the Toronto office, this will increase the number of employer advisors to 14 and increase the budget to $1.23 million. As well, Mr. Wrye announced the appointment of seven distinguished men and women to the Industrial Disease Standards Panel. The Panel is responsible for investigating possible industrial disease and advising Workers' Compensation on related claims. Taken together, these initiatives will help advance Workers' Compensation toward a system which is sensitive, comprehensive and fair.

Man drowns

A Toronto man, James Martin Paton, drowned in Haliburton Lake last week.

The Ontario Provincial Police, Minden Detachment suspect the accident happened as Mr. Paton, aged 30, was running his boat in Sand Bay. He had been residing at a cottage on the lake since June 22.

The boat was found adrift by employees of the Ministry of Natural Resources on June 26. Two days later, the body of Mr. Paton was discovered in Sand Bay by some fishermen.

The investigation is being continued by Constable

Ron Buchanan.

Man charged

A Scarborough, Ontario man has been charged with fraud after he tried to obtain drugs from a drug store and several area doctors.

Police say that Lloyd Gowie was carrying a false OHIP card and false phone number when he visited the doctors to complain of imaginary ailments on June 26. One June 29, Mr. Gowie tried to purchase some drugs as Jasco Drugs in Haliburton Village with an invalid prescription. Constable Dave MacMartin was the investigating officer.

Flood plain restrictions

present floor space. Lehman said the severe restrictions were necessary to protect present and future development in the area.

An appeal process is in place for those property owners in the restricted areas. He said it was unlikely a large number of permits would be given, beyond those for a 25% expansion, noting the following factors would be considered before a permit would be granted: the depth of flooding and the amount of fill required; impact on drainage patterns; direction and rate of flow of the river; impact on flood levels and the likelihood of damage to structures.

Details of the restricted and SPA zones will now be incorporated into the municipality's official plan and zoning bylaw. Both having been placed on hold pending the completion of this study. The two will now be presented to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval and enactment. All those who own property along the river will be notified of the new plan and what the restrictions mean to their property.

Those property owners in attendance Wednesday evening raised a number of issues concerning the new restrictions. Most were obviously not pleased with the situation. One individual asked if compensation would be available for those who experienced a drop in property values. The answer was no. It was noted that the provincial government could not afford to compensate all property owners who found the value of their property devalued in this way. It was pointed out that those in the restricted area would likely have lower municipal taxes since the value of their property was lowered.

However, that seemed to be of little interest to the residents. Many wondered why the dams further up the Gull River system were not used for flood control rather than just to ensure an adequate flow of water for the Trent canal system. Reeve Sinc Nesbitt said the municipality is currently exploring this possibility and that of a change in policy could be implemented, the size of the flood zone could be altered.

Deputy Reeve Bern Berry

told the meeting that the plan which incorporates the SPA's will be a major improvement over the total restrictions the province first intended to impose on the entire area. He said the previous council and the present council felt that by creating the plan, it would leave some room for development.

Reeve Nesbitt noted that he was completely sympathetic to the concerns of the property owners, since he owns 13 lots in the restricted area. He said that by accepting the plan as proposed by the council, the municipality will be leaving the door open for changes and appeals in the future.

The reeve closed the meeting by paying tribute to the planners and the hard work which had gone into the plan. He indicated that the provincial representatives had provided concerned and conscientious assistance in the preparation of the plan and that the council felt they had been treated fairly by all concerned.

His comments drew a round of applause from the audience.

Council asked to restrict herbicide spraying by Hydro

The Municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden has been asked to ban the use of the herbicide 2,4-D within its jurisdiction. Speaking to a council meeting Tuesday, June 24, Gordon Smith, a Carnarvon naturopath, said he has seen symptoms including nausea, skin rashes, and the development of malignant tumours in people who have come into contact with the chemical.

2,4-D is available to the public at most hardware stores and is used extensively by Ontario Hydro as a brush killer on their rights-of-way. Asked if the herbicide is also used by the municipality, councillor Verne Graham replied, "I don't think we use that particular substance here."

Mr. Smith, who has been fighting to have 2,4-D removed from the market for a number of years now, cited numerous American and Canadian studies which suggested the chemical may be a health hazard. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, he said, called attention to a lack of information on the effects of the herbicide. He also noted that Dr. Donald Chant, Vice President of the University of Toronto, question the "use of a chemical for weed control whose safety has not been proven." Other studies Mr. Smith mentioned suggested 2,4-D as a likely cancer causing agent.

"Hydro says that when they use 2,4-D they avoid spraying near water sources so it doesn't get into the water table. My question is, where in Haliburton is it possibly to get away from the water. Hydro also claim that the herbicide will decompose within a few months of use. Yes, it does, but it breaks down into other chemicals, some even more dangerous than 2,4-D"

Mr. Smith pointed out that because of growing fears about effects on humans and animals, the chemical has already been banned in other municipalities as well as some countries. These include Metro Toronto, Denmark, Sweden and Finland.

Asked to comment, Mr. Dave Ethier, Ontario Hydro's environmental supervisor for this region, said he disagreed with Mr. Smith's findings. "To my knowledge the chemicals we use are no health hazard. Our spraying is all done selectively by ground crews who know how to use them."

He explained that Hydro only uses chemical herbicides that have been tested and passed by both the Federal Ministry of Agriculture and the Ontario Pesticide Advisory Committee, a group of scientists and other experts set up by the provincial government.

One of Hydro's guidelines, Mr. Ethier said, is a 1982 Nova Scotia Supreme Court case between a logging company spraying 2,4-D and the herbicide 2,4-5-T (a main ingredient of Agent Orange, a defoliant used by the Americans in Vietnam, which has been linked to serious birth defects) and a group of people who want to prevent the spraying. The court ruled in the logging company's favour because, it said, the chemicals being used are not a threat to human health.

Hydro has been using 2,4-D, 2,4-5-T and other herbicides, Mr. Ethier commented, since 1948.

He admitted that dioxins, as Mr. Smith claimed, had been found in their herbicides, but in such small quantities - "We've only recently developed instruments capable of measuring amounts this small" - as to be negligible in their effects.

However, he did say that Hydro stopped using some kinds of 2,4-D only a few years ago when they were found to contain the most toxic dioxin of all, called TCDD.

Though no resolution on the issue was passed, council did ask clerk-treasurer Bev Millar to find out from Hydro what herbicides they were using and where they were spraying.

Youngsters and adults alike, got into the spirit of the celebrations Tuesday, during the Canada Day festivities at the Minden fairgrounds. One of the attractions was a horse-drawn hayride which appealed to children of all ages.

Council briefs

A group of residents from the Highland Gate Estates made a presentation to Anson, Hindon and Minden council. The group wanted to know when the municipi-pality is going to pave the road going through the subdivision and where it will run.

Reeve Sinc Nesbitt said that, as promised, the road will be paved, but that more information will have to be gathered before anything can be done. He also said there isn't money in the municipal budget to begin the project this year and that the earliest date for construction to begin would be next spring.

Festival

The Haliburton County Fair was designated a community festival so that it can be insured under the municipal policy. Insurance costs for the Fair would be much higher if it was independently insured.

Permits

A permit was issued for the operation of a chip wagon at the Pan-Am white water race in August. Permits were also issued for the operation of a delicatessen and an ice cream and frozen yogurt store, both to open in Minden.

Litter

A resolution was passed to request the Ministry of Transport and Communication to clean up the litter at the intersection of Highways 118 and 35.

White water

Council agreed to assist the Minden Wild Water Preserve by providing signs, garbage cans, and four portable washrooms for the Pam-Am white water event on August 23rd and 24th.

Copier

Council also agreed to the cost of a new photo copier for the Minden Public Library.

Hustlers drop close game

In a real pitchers' battle, the Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers dropped a 2-1 decision to the Lindsay Town Rentals last Thursday night at home.

Brian Shaw was on the mound for the Hustlers and tossed a four hitter in a heart breaker as the locals could come up with only one run off winning pitcher Ted Moynes, who threw a five hitter for the win.

The Hustlers only run came in the first inning as Collin Newell slammed a home run over the left field fence.

Rentall scored their two runs in the sixth inning on a walk and two hits. In the seventh inning Brian Shaw hit a triple with one out but the next two Hustlers struck out to end the game.

The loss dropped the locals into second place behind the Bobcaygeon Juniors.

This week, the Hustlers play at home Thursday night against York Tavern at 8:00 p.m. and in a rare Sunday game will host Kent Tavern at 6:00 p.m. Let's get out and support the boys at these two games as they try to regain first place.

Full league standings next week.

VOLUNTEERS ARE NEEDED

Minden Scouting Group gathered for the annual end of the season banquet Thursday at the Community Centre. During the evening awards were presented to cubs, scouts and beavers who had collected the most pledges for Trees for Canada, winners included beaver Alan Carpenter, cubs Ronnie and Robbie Reid and scout Sheldon Stevenson. The boys and their parents were entertained by OPP Police Dog Rom and his handler Constable Paul McNeill. The evening also saw the going up ceremonies for beavers to cubs and cubs to scouts. Before the year closed, the boys, the leaders and members of the group committee gathered for this photograph.

Everyday, people face difficulties, some of which may involve the law. You may stand to lose money or even go to jail because you don't know your legal rights or basic legal procedures. Too often, you may consult a lawyer when it's too late. Knowing when and how to select a lawyer.

In the Haliburton County Information Centre we have pamphlets dealing with the consideration of when a lawyer is needed and many other legal concerns. Brochures on topics such as: Legal Aid, Employment Rights, Divorce Laws, Unemployment Rights, Accidents, Patient Rights, Stop and Searches, Arrest and Detention and Jury Duty are all available for your use.

Dial-a-Law is a free program offering general legal information from the Law Society of Upper Canada. By phoning 1-800-387-2992 residents from our area code can listen to a specific topic from a wide variety of tape recorded messages.

The Law Society also operated a Lawyer Referral Service if you need assistance in finding a lawyer in your area who handles matters of specific concern to you. If you use this referral service and make an appointment with the lawyer, be sure to advise him/her that you were referred by this service. Not all lawyers belong to the Referral Service. When referred you will be charged $20 for up to one half hour for consultation with the lawyer. After that, the lawyer's regular rates apply. The province wide toll free number is 1-800-268-8326.

CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF LUTTERWORTH

NOTICE

IN THE MATTER OF THE MUNICIPAL ACT; and IN THE MATTER OF a proposed By-law of the Corporation of the Township of Lutterworth to stop up and close a portion of the 66-foot 'unopened' Original Shoreline (Marine) Allowance for Road along the shoreline perimeter of the Gull River, in front of Part of Lot 27; in Concession 3, in the Township of Lutterworth and to convey the aforesaid Shoreline Allowance portion to the abutting property owner.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to Section 301 (1) (a), of The Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1980, that the Council of the Corporation of the Township of Lutterworth proposes to consider and, if deemed advisable, to pass at its Regular Bi-monthly Meeting to be held at the Council Chambers, 3 miles south of Minden, on Highway No. 35, on Tuesday, July 29th, 1986, at the hour of 4:15 o'clock, in the afternoon, a By-law to stop up and close the parcel of land more particularly described as follows:-

SCHEDULE "A"

ALL that part of the sixty-six foot Original unopened Shoreline Allowance for Road along the shoreline of the Gull River, in front of Part of Lot 27, in Concession 3, in the Township of Lutterworth, in the County of Haliburton, designated as Part 1 on a Plan of Survey deposited in the Registry Office for the Registry Division of Haliburton (19) as Plan 19R-3547.

AND, in addition, to convey Part 1 on Survey Plan 19R-3547 to the owner of the abutting Instrument Number 133332.

A copy of Survey Plan 19R-3547 is attached to the proposed By-law and may be viewed at the Lutterworth Municipal Office during normal working hours.

AND TAKE FURTHER NOTICE THAT, before passing of the said By-law at its meeting to be held at the time and place above-mentioned, the Council of the Corporation of the Township of Lutterworth, shall then and there hear in person, or by his or her counsel, solicitor or agent, any person who claims that his or her land will be prejudicially affected by the said By-law and who applies to be heard.

DATED at the Township of Lutterworth this 2nd day of JULY, 1986.

Unique collection reflects pioneer era

by John Greenwood

Having been on this earth for over 62 years now, John Hulbig has grown rather fond of the past. He likes to talk about Haliburton County in the old days and the way people used to do things, before nuclear bombs and acid rain. And so none of this history becomes lost to us, he's been collecting it, bit by bit, in an old schoolhouse he bought in 1960. Now it's filled - most of the floor and all the walls - with old axes and bores for drilling holes in barn timbers and early gas engines that once ran farm implements now long extinct and with shelves and shelves of old books and patent medicine bottles.

At the farthest end from the door there's a big new plywood sign that says:

Visit the Little Red
School Museum
Admission $1.00

The plans that's been in his mind all these years, explains John, is to open his collection to the public when he retires, as a sort of hobby and occupation rolled into one. "People could come in and see some of these old things, and I'm sure they'd be interested," he says, gesturing at masses of tools and strange objects that fill the building. "But the first thing to do is clean them up and get the place so that visitors walk about easily and see what's here." That may well be one big job. The building is firm and dry and most of the machinery is in working order but other artifacts will all have to be laid out, identified (even John doesn't know what some of them are) and possibly even catalogued. This could take as long as it did to accumulate them.

What makes the collection so unique is that every bit of it has been chosen by one man because of some special significance. Even the building was chosen for a particular personal reason. "This is where I went to school from 1931 until 1936. I started off in elementary school and after passing the secondary school entrance examinations I did another two years of high school here. It was a one room building and I was the only student in my grade the last two years, but that was the way they did things in those days."

Clearly Hulbig does not want to let us forget about the old ways. Though he may not be able to put a name to everything, he can say something about each object in the room. One of his favourites is an early gas motor for powering a table saw or anything else that might be run nowadays by electricity. "What I like about it is that it was made in Lindsay and was one of the first of its kind." As the huge device is dragged from its corner and into the sunlight, boards crack under the weight. "This would have been a dandy machine for doing all sorts of things in its day."

Another tool that attracts curiosity is an ancient two-man chainsaw with a handle at both ends. The chain is enormous and the engine which sits at one end of the three and a half foot cutting bar must weight at least as much as the two men it took to operate it. "Of course it is a rather unwieldy thing," John admits, "but it couldn't be beat for cross-cutting big logs."

Glinting in the afternoon sunlight coming through the window is a polished copper plaque with the inscription, "Our Land, Confederation 1867-1927." "I remember that being over the doorway when I went to school here. All the schools had them in those days. I found it all rolled up and tarnished down in the swamp a few years ago, so I took it home and fixed it up." And Hulbig did a good job of it, because looking at it now, you'd never know the plaque had ever been taken down from its spot above the door.

In a cupboard beneath the chimney at the back of the room is the school library, a collection of no more than a hundred books which cover subjects as diverse as algebra and the Romantic poets. And pinned up against a door is a selection of old examination papers. "It took us three days to write them," remarks Hulbig. Likely they would stump a good many modern students.

Hulbig is also proud of three spears that look like pitchforks, leaning against the wall. "We used to use those for lake trout. You'd hell out of that.")

But just as strange, in some cases, as the objects in Hulbig's collection are his accounts of how he came by them. "This," he says, picking up an old seal from the now defunct Peterson's Corner Orange Lodge. "Was found in the town dump. It was rusty and jammed up and nobody knew what it was until I fixed it up." Polished and welded where one of the arms was cracked, it sits on a shelf in perfect working order. "I used to be a television repairman in this area and that's how I came by many of these things."

The list of tools goes on and on do out at night with a torch burning at the end of your boat to attract the fish to the surface. And then you'd spear them, some as big as forty pounds."

The list of tools and objects in the museum goes on and on: there's a curious easel-like contraption, beautifully decorated but with no identifiable purpose; a heap of ornately engraved sheets of cast iron in one dark corner was once and will again be a wood stove when the curator gets around to putting it back together; an old Orange Order drum hangs above the staircase. ("A fellow from Hindon Hill used to take great pleasure in beating the

People would tell me about interesting old tools or sometimes I'd see them in my travels. And if they were really good, I'd buy them.

Hulbig's museum reflects the county and its curator. The artifacts come from all over and don't fit into any tidy categories. Like Haliburtonians and their history, it's a disordered, complicated thing, but one that is very much alive. Glass cases and little typed identification cards would be as alien to the collection as they would be to you or me. Hulbig knows this and that's why if you want to see the past, you should stop first at his museum when it opens to the public.

In 1927 every school had a plaque celebrating Canada's confederation.

Board restricts smoking

The Haliburton County Board of Education has unanimously passed a resolution that will restrict smoking by staff members in schools.

At its regular meeting on June 24, Lynn Craigmyle moved that the Board make all schools totally smoke-free by September 1, 1986 in time for the new school year. The final motion, as amended by Nancy Stinson, deleted any mention of a time-frame.

The amended resolution will allow each school to designate up to two smoking areas for staff. The areas must not be visible to any students and are not to conflict with non-smoking staff.

The Board's resolution has already come into force, according to Mr. Craigmyle. A second no-smoking resolution adopted by the Board, to take effect September 1, prohibits all smoking in a county school when it is being used by a community group.

A third resolution has also been passed that limits smoking in the Board of Education's head office to one designated smoking area.

Mr. Craigmyle based his motion on the twin problems of damage to the health of staff when smoking and the bad example set for youngsters. He has also received, in the past year, a form letter from the Ontario Medical Association urging all school boards to take restrictive action on cigarette smoking.

Blood donor clinic to be held July 22

A blood donor clinic will be held later this month in Haliburton County. According to Jim Holmes, the chairman of the Red Cross sponsored clinic, it will take place Tuesday, July 22 at the Royal Canadian Legion.

The clinic is one of few held in this county the last one was 13 years ago, and the chairman hopes that those who have been unable to attend clinics on a regular basis will do so. To be able to give blood, a donor must be 17 to 66 years of age, in good general health and feeling well, not be taking prescription medication and have adequate sleep and something to eat before the donation. Those who have flu, cold or sore throat are advised not to attend. Also excluded are individuals who have had minor surgery in the past three months, major surgery in the past six months or who have taken medication in the past 72 hours.

Mr. Holmes noted that the blood used in Canadian hospitals is provided to patients free of charge and the Red Cross must rely on willing volunteers to ensure there is a constant supply. He urged all residents to take part in the clinic.

The clinic will be held July 22, from 2 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. For more information call 457-1663.

Program stresses tourism hospitality

A $1.5 million province-wide program to foster tourism hospitality and awareness was announced recently by Ontario Tourism and Recreation Minister John Eakins.

"Advertising by word of mouth is what we're after. One of the best ways to achieve that is for everyone in Ontario to be pleasant, helpful and friendly to all our visitors," Eakins said.

The program will train managers and owners in the tourism industry who will in turn train their staff. The Ministry will provide training sessions with leadership guides and employee hospitality kits for participants. The awareness campaign will emphasise the importance of tourism to Ontario's economy.

The objective is to improve the quality of service to visitors to Ontario and residents travelling within the province. This includes everything from proper currency exchange to friendly, courteous behaviour.

"We will work closely with our client groups over the next several months to structure this initiative to meet their needs," Eakins said.

Housing authority planned for three townships

The Staanworth Non-profit Housing Corporation, in conjunction with the Municipalities of Stanhope, Lutterworth and Anson, Hindon and Minden, and also in conjunction with the Ministry of Housing, is conducting a survey to determine the need for market and rent-geared-to-income rental housing for senior citizens and families.

The agencies will conduct a study of the area housing situation. This review will include an assessment of economic trends, growth factors, and current and future housing needs.

Additional information will be gathered through advertising, direct mail questionnaires, interviews and reviewing applications on file with the Staanworth Non-profit Housing Corporation.

A self-explanatory questionnaire will be mailed to senior citizens and tenant families asking them if they are interested in market or rent-geared-to-income rental housing. Residents who do not receive a questionnaire by mail, or who would like additional information, may obtain forms and further information from one of the following Municipal Offices at the telephone numbers indicated: Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden - 286-1260; Lutterworth Township - 286-1541; Stanhope Township - 489-2379.

Meetings will be held on Wednesday, July 16, at the times and locations, as noted below, to provide further information about the proposed project and answer any questions about the survey:

At the Stanhope fire hall - 1:00 to 4:00 in the afternoon (Open House) - located on the Northshore Road, Stanhope; at the Minden council chambers - 7:00 to 9:30 in the evening (Open House) - located on Milne

Street in Minden Village.

After the Staanworth Non-profit Housing Corporation receives the results of the survey indicating a need for a specific number of units, the Corporation will pursue the development of an assisted rental housing project on behalf of the three participating municipalities both for senior citizens and for families.

Today (Tuesday) is July 1 so hope you all had a happy Canada Day, some folks had Monday off and others had to work, a bit difficult to celebrate. Also to our visitors from the U.S.A., have a happy 4th of July!

Winners at the euchre party last Thursday at the Library/Cultural Centre were for lone hands May Sinclair while others included Melissa Thompson, Charlotte O'Neill, Jack Weekes and Jeanne Sears. These games start at 1:30 p.m. and everyone is welcome.

There was a surprise dinner party at the Schnitzel House on Sunday, June 22 in the afternoon in honour of the 50th wedding anniversary of Lil and Victor Martin. All their family but three were there, also brother Frank and Elva Martin. Gifts and cards were numerous and congratulations came from Madame Sauve, Lt. Governor Alexander, Bill Scott, MP, John Eakins, MPP, P.M. Mulroney, Premier David Peterson and the County of Haliburton. The community joins in belated good wishes.

The weekly Rotary bingo at the community centre last Tuesday had a good crowd. "Winner take all" was won by Loretta Anderson who received $75. The Nevada Hat was worn by Florence Summerton who also came out last in the Loser's Game: final game for $57 was split by Esther Lee and Peggy Brown.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of Mrs. Elsie Sibley, James Patton, Ross Golden, Grant Benson and Alan Graham whose funerals were since last week.

Activities at South Lake Trailer Park over the weekend were varied. Friday night most people had a bingo win and jackpot was divided between Agnes Tuck, Doris Wrigley and Jason Thompson. Saturday night saw euchre with Joyce Thompson first, Shirley Smith second and Karen Leaman booby. Sunday night jackpot of $16 was won by Jody Taylor and $11 won by Wayne Mahaffy. There was the usual Sunday hayride for the youngsters.

Janice and Jack Shaw were in Lindsay last Saturday for the wedding reception for Richard and Eunice Robinson.

Weekend guests at various times with the Milton Sears' were the Paul Warburtons of Queensville and the Glen Sears of Oshawa.

Last Sunday was an Anglican Congregational Service at 11 a.m. at the John Barclay's of Maple Lake and following this was the picnic with races and treats. A good time was had by all.

Those who attended the three day horticultural convention at Trent University in Peterborough last week were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Kirkwood and Illa Cooper, Evelyn Trepanier, Marian Ingram and Mrs. Bob Cook attended the Wednesday sessions. This is the first time that District 4 has hosted this convention and they had the highest attendance to date.

Father George Elliott has just returned from the Synod in Winnipeg where they appointed a new Primate of Canada in the Anglican Church.

A shower was held by Elinor Burke for Jean Hoard at the home of Vivian Kernohan prior to her marriage to Allan Kernohan. Nila Graham and Merle Barkwell of Huntsville attended, also Phyllis Richardson of Cobocok along with many other friends.

Howie and Jerry Ryan of Baldwin visited with Norm and Betty Challin of Horseshoe Lake and it was an enjoyable week. Sunday guests were son Bruce Ryan of Ajax and his friend Brenda Thompson.

Elva and Harold Deacon are home after a 20 day tour of the Maritimes and Newfoundland and report having a great time.

Several places opened up new businesses recently, the Feed Store opposite Sears, the Homemade Ice Cream shop near Stedmans', Fashion Store behind the Dominion, the children's shop over the hardware store who are moving where Mae's was and of course, the Polish Deli beside the Valu-Mart.

The regular meeting of Minden and District Horticultural Society will be at the Municipal Courtroom on Tuesday, July 8 at 7:30. Mrs. Allison Little of Little Britain will speak on how to prepare flowers and vegetables for the show. All are welcome and light refreshments will be served.

The Retired Teachers in Haliburton County are looking for members for the purpose of upgrading the membership of District 18. STO membership is $2 annually and their dinner will be held Thursday, September 25 at Wig-a-Mog Inn, so keep this date in mind. For more information call Jean Cox at 286-1618.

The County Museum will hold their Flea Market on Saturday, July 5 and welcome donations. The Frost Centre at St. Nora's Lake will have experiences on July 8 and 10 and it's free and time is 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

C.N.A. Motorcycle races at Bill's Hill in Wilberforce on Saturday July 5 at 12:30. There will be a fun day and craft show at Stanhope Firehall July 26. For details call Shirley at 489-1986.

Drop in at the Rails' End or Agnes Jamieson Gallery, you will always find something to please you.

Belated birthday wishes to Lily Miller on July 2 and don't forget Pearl Lyle whose special day is July 5th. Also Norman Cowen had a 65th birthday on the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Upton of Downsview spent the weekend at their summer home in Minden.

Very happy to report that Louella Yearwood is home and after some time in hospital and much improved.

The Black Hole in the Sky

"I fear the atom bomb"

People say
But they need not fear the bombs today,
For we are on a path
To our own destruction
With all our pollution, contamination -
Our lack of concern
For our beautiful world.
We are also burning the atmosphere -
A precious thing we should hold dear
For our existence.
But a black hole in the ozone
Has now appeared
Like a horrid genie
Imprisoned in a bottle, where he could do no harm
But is suddenly set free
To wreak his demonolatry
Upon mankind!
You can almost hear his raucous laugh of glee
"I am released and I am free
Oh puny mortals, how stupid you are
With all your knowledge and technology
You tread your path with nary a glance
At I, who all powerful, can do my dance
Of death.
Keep on at the rate that you are going,
You've altered the weather and the tides
The world is growing warmer besides,
It won't be long, a few hundred years
And nations will band together to allay their fears.
Remember, remember my prophecy -
Forget disaster - It cannot be - you say,
But in the far recesses of your mind
There was an age of ice we have left behind,
The animals that roamed, we have their bones
What caused their decline?
No one knows.
Think of the grandeur of Minos (Crete) and Pompeii,
Whose ruins still exist today
And the world of Atlantis, at the bottom of the sea
It disappeared without a trace
If this what's in store for the human race?
Well we shall see.
The sea is rising, volcanoes are rumbling, earthquakes are shaking
Their wrath
While man goes on about his job.
He does not care, or scan the sky, he's much too busy,
But beware, the black hole in the sky
It may unleash its fethers, and sweep all of us up - by and by!

Baseball games for youngsters 8 - 14 will be held at Archie Stouffer Elementary School diamond on Wednesdays, July 9, 16, 23 and 30 from 6:30 p.m. - 8 p.m. Costs only 25¢/night.

The annual meeting of the Horseshoe Lake Property Owners Association will be held on Saturday, July 5 at 1:30 p.m. in the Wild Water Preserve Club House.

Fifty retired teachers and guests were greeted at Birch Point Lodge by president Edna Sedgwick, on June 18, for a dinner meeting. All are members of the Haliburton Unit of Superannuated Teachers of Ontario.

They travelled from Apsley, Kennis Lake, Egle Lake, Cobocok, Fenelon Falls and points in between.

Old acquaintances were renewed and new friends acquired before and after a delicious turkey dinner.

Marion Barsley spoke on Elder Hostelling. She and her husband had just returned from a course in Penticton, B.C.

Because of the excellent response, it was decided not to join at this time with Victoria County as one unit.

Hi Kids!!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Q: What has four legs and a long tail and can't neigh anymore?

A: A hoarse horse.

Q: What kinds of keys won't unlock doors?

A: Don-keys and turkeys.

Q: When is a dog's tail like a farmer's cart?

A: When it's a-waggin'.

Q: Where do cows like to go on Saturday nights?

A: To the moo-oo-vies.

Q: Where does a lamb get a haircut?

A: In a baa-baa shop.

by Pearl Lyle

Well Folks, here I come again. Reports are that Edna Cowan will be home soon and is much better, so maybe you will not be bothered with me anymore. Hurray! you readers say.

It was surely nice to have Rev. Burgess back with us on Sunday night. He is looking well but says he tires very easily. On Tuesday morning we had Rev. Smith from Haliburton Baptist Church.

Taylor Hogg and his wife visited his mother Lily Hogg on Tuesday. On Wednesday Jean and George Hewitt had lunch with Jean's mother Pearl Lyle. We had a small card party Wednesday afternoon. There were enough players for four tables.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Jewel of Peterborough and Janet Lywood of Norland called on Charlie Brohm intending to take him to see some friends, but Charlie was laid up with the gout. Glad to report he is much improved. Chesel Nesbitt was in to see his mother one day.

The Gelert ladies brought the lunch in for the Tea Party on Thursday. It was a delicious lunch. They also brought a cake (beautifully decorated) for the birthday folks in June. There were six in all. They were as follows Ada Lewis, Winnie Barnum, Mrs. Stutt, Lola Prentice, Mrs. McIlwain and Dale English.

One evening Gordon Houghton, his wife and three daughters accompanied by Eldon Bull, Kirk Bull and Lewis Reynolds entertained us. It was a real treat. The other children were much enjoyed by us older folks. Do come again.

Mrs. Todd, her daughter-in-law and two children went shopping in Lindsay.

Doris and Linda took some of us on a wee bus trip to West Guilford and surrounding countryside to view the destruction caused by the tornado. It is a terrible sight to see. It seemed to go in streaks. We stopped in Carnarvon at NJ's Restaurant for lunch. We arrived back at Hyland Crest at 1:30. Although it rained everyone seemed to enjoy the outing.

Charles Brohm's son Don with his wife and two children came to take Charlie for a ride in their new car and visit at the same time. Later Charlie's son Cecil was in to see him. He seems to have sons coming from all directions.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sisson from Lindsay came for lunch with Ina McGuire, and also called on Annie Cox.

Mrs. George Nesbitt had her grandson Terry with his wife and little son Jesse visit with her on Sunday.

I believe this is all I have for this week. Au Revoir.

Branch 129 news

by Gerald Irish

If you occasionally see a new person in the office, doing typing and filing, drop in and introduce yourself to Gwen Tatersall. Gwen has volunteered to help her Branch by using her area of expertise. Gwen's example and generous offer of her time should make all of us stop and think. In what way can we help Branch 129? Please volunteer your assistance. There is always so much to be done.

Branch 129 will be hosting a Presidents' Ball on July 19. This is a dress ball. (Jackets and ties please). All the Presidents from the branches in this zone have been invited to attend this dance. Other Zone, District and Provincial officers have been invited as well. Music for dancing will be provided by the Frank Howard six-piece orchestra. During the evening a dynamic comedy duo will put on a show that is guaranteed to tickle your funny bone. A delicious buffet luncheon will be served toward the conclusion of the evening. We are having only 250 tickets printed at $6.00 per ticket. Get yours soon and avoid disappointment.

Donations of blood are always badly needed but even more so during the heavy traffic months of July and August.

On Canada Day, Tuesday, July 1, 32 Legionnaires went by bus to Bobcaygeon to be present at the opening of their newly renovated and added to branch. After a short service at the Cenotaph and a brief march back to their club, all who attended were given a tour of the facilities and were much impressed with what this branch has done.

Bluegrass excitement is growing. The new sign, advertising the dates of this festival, is in place at the end of the lake on the approach to the village. Hydro is being installed for the stage area in Glebe Park. Brochures are being circulated throughout the province and the response so far has been great. On the Saturday evening of the Bluegrass festival there will be a draw for a boat, motor and trailer. This is a one package prize. Tickets are only $5.00 each and only 1500 tickets have been printed.

On July 12 we will be holding the draw for the large oil painting of the Highlands in Autumn. Only 500 of these have been printed and we are selling them at $1.00 per ticket. Make sure you have yours.

Congratulations to the owners of the Skyslide in Haliburton village on the addition of the waterslide. This is another attraction which should encourage visitors to the Highlands. We at Branch 129 wish them well in their endeavours.

Wally Chambers was the lucky winner of the 50-50 draw this week. Wally was able to take home $56.50. Congratulations Wally.

Rogues' Gallery continues to grow with the addition of each picture. If you were in the Services, why not let us have a picture of you in uniform? The Gallery is proving to be very popular as people note the changes (or lack of them) in people they know and recognize.

There will be a meeting of the Bluegrass Chairmen, Monday, July 7 at 7:30 p.m. At this meeting we will be given an update on progress and discuss future work to be done.

Branch 129 will be having a Wine and Cheese party on Saturday evening, July 5 from 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Come out and meet your friends during this social hour.

Your Branch made a $50.00 donation to the Minden Figure Skating Club and wish them continued success in all their work with the young people of that area.

The following letter was received from J. W. "Bill" Smith, Provincial President.

With the Edmonton Dominion Convention behind us, let us proceed now with the business at hand in Ontario Command.

To all who attended the convention, I wish to state how very much impressed I was with the delegates representing your Branch and you. Their decorum and fine input to the sessions did you really proud.

All segments of our membership were involved in the debate. Indeed, drew the attention of the other Commands, with their level headed thinking, which made the convention look toward Ontario Command for guidance.

My Comrades, for this, I wish to give you all my heartfelt thanks. My job of representing you, as the President of Ontario Command, was thus made an enjoyable and rewarding experience. I have utter confidence in the future of the Royal Canadian Legion, Ontario Command.

Thank you, one and all.

From the report your executive received from President Joan and Secretary Mabel, we know they "did us proud". Thanks and congratulations to our representatives.

CARD OF THANKS

The Archie Stouffer Home and School Association would like to thank the following who helped to make our 2nd annual Fun Fair another huge success - Kawartha Dairy, Highlands T.V., Maple Leaf Bakery, The Senitt Puppets, Dixie Lee, I.D.A. Drug Store, Brian Sisson, C.H.A.C.E. Minden, St. Paul's Church, Betty Perugino, Arnold Cowan and Carnarvon Lumber, Minden HomeAll, Irma Armstrong and Marion Harris, Caryl Douglas, The Storeroom, Stedmans Minden, Sharon Douglas of The Times, Kim Cowan, Faye Baxter and the Haliburton County Hylites, all those who helped and sent baking, students, volunteers, and all who came and enjoyed. And a special thank you to McKay Brydon and his staff.

I would like to thank all those who worked so hard to get CHACE Place Minden ready for its Grand Opening on Saturday, June 21, particularly Dianne Hagerman and Janice Benoit for the delicious food they prepared. Special thanks also to the reeve Sinc Nesbitt and warden Harry Davis for officiating and to Helen Robertson, Matthew Hynard and Katie Phillips who came disguised as clowns.

Rozanne Hynard
